THE TICKET AND PLATFORM.

What is Thought of Them by the Press and Public.
Gov. McCrory: "It is good all around. We are going to keep all we got in 1884 and will in my opinion gain some votes in the Northwest."

Detroit Free Press: "The nomination of Allan G. Thurman for Vice-President completes and rounds out the democratic ticket into perfect symmetry. Like Mr. Cleveland, he is the nominee of the party, not merely of the convention."

Louisville Post: "While the democracy has a weak platform, it has a strong ticket, and as the people vote for men and party, and not for the meaningless promises of 'policy' of the latter, there is an excellent chance for its success in November."

New York Herald: "It is a good a platform as was ever adopted by a convention; clear, straightforward, without quibble or double-dealing. What it declares concerning promises redeemed is true; what it promises the ticket guarantees."

Mr. Bragg, of California: "The placing of Thurman's name on the ticket makes the vote of California certain for the democrats. He has always been with us on the Chinese question. His financial views are also perfectly satisfactory to us."

Louisville Commercial: "Cleveland and Thurman represent the best and most successful elements of their party. No stronger combination could have been made. A more meaningless jumble of words, as regards the tariff, could not have been produced, unless some bungling printer should 'pi' the dictionary and send the form to press without revision."

New York Sun (anti-Cleveland and anti-democratic): "As a matter of composition it is a clumsy, incongruous, sleepy piece of work, and as for principles, the whole of it is contained in the first twelve lines. In this declaration the whole elaborate reasoning of President Cleveland's message against any reduction of the internal revenue is pitched overboard, we trust with his full consent."

Cleveland Plaindealer: "The ticket satisfies every requirement. It is invulnerable from every point of attack. It appeals to the reason and calm judgment of the people, not less than to the enthusiastic devotion of the party to its greatest living statesman. The platform is a conservative statement, yet it makes a bold proclamation on the vital issues that are actually before the country and which have to be faced and settled in some practical way."

Chicago Times, (Ind.): "The St. Louis convention has completed its work to the satisfaction of the democratic party and of the public who believe in honest and economical government. Like those presidents whose services have gained the commendation of their party, Mr. Cleveland has been renominated, and his prospects for re-election are excellent. Cleveland, Thurman and tax reform will enter the canvass with well-rounded assurance of success. Monopolies will oppose the men and the plan; but truth and the people are mighty."

Courier-Journal: "Cleveland and Thurman! there is magic in that legend. It is the combination which gives every assurance of zeal, courage and discretion. No doubt exists any longer in the mind of any man as to the purposes of the democratic party towards the tariff. Whatever doubt may have existed as to the meaning of any phrase of that instrument is removed by the declaration that the party reiterates those declarations as interpreted by the message of Mr. Cleveland, and the subsequent approval of the action of democrats in Congress, who for four years have labored to give force and effect to the promises of 1884. So formally begins a campaign which is to end in another term of democratic administration of a democratic government—a campaign which in those elements that appeal both to reason and sentiment promises to be the most notable since the memorable contests in the old days of the democrats and whigs."

Its Delicacy of Flavor
And the efficacy of its action have rendered the famous California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, immensely popular. It cleanses and tones up the clogged and feverish system, and dispels Headaches, Colds, and Fevers.
For sale by A. R. Penny, Stanford.

Mr. Springer, of Illinois: "It is a ticket of giants. It is as big at one end as it is at the other. It will be strong with all people who want a plain and simple form of government. The platform is everything that could be desired."

Roger Q. Mills: "The ticket is all that we could ask. As to the tariff plank let me say that had I framed it myself I think I should have written it differently. So far as general principles go, however, the platform is in every way strong enough, and we should not forget that after all it is the principle we are contending for."

Billy Breckinridge: "It is a great ticket. The country has had a chance to judge of Cleveland, and Thurman is a man of national reputation. He is strong everywhere and weak nowhere. In my opinion he is the best man who could have been put on the ticket. As for the tariff plank, I am satisfied with what has been done."

N. Y. World: "It is a strong ticket which the democratic convention completed yesterday by the nomination of Allan G. Thurman for Vice-President.

With President Cleveland as the representative of the principle of tax reduction through tariff reform, and Judge Thurman as a veteran statesman, whose name is a synonym for honesty, courage and fidelity to the constitution, the ticket appeals both to the judgment and the sentiment, to the interest and the feeling of every democratic voter in the land."

Louisville Times: "The platform is all right. It interprets the tariff plank of 1884 as Cleveland construed it in his last annual message to Congress and as the Ways and Means committee construed it in the Mids Bill. The issue is the administration, the message and the tariff bill. The republicans oppose all of them; the democrats endorse all of them. Let the republicans abuse the platform as much as they wish; it is going to drive no democrat from the support of the ticket, and it is the very best ticket that could have been selected from the more than 5,000,000 democratic voters in the United States. It will run like the cholera."

St. Louis Republic: "No ticket put in the field by the democratic party has ever been placed there under more favorable auspices, or with a more assured promise of success. It is strong in the conditions and circumstances that surround it. Of the platform put forth by the convention, it may be said it closes one political war and opens another. It closes the era of campaigns fought on the dead and buried issues of the war, and dexterous evasions of the living issues, and it marks the opening of a new era, in which the democratic party at least goes to the people with a square and unqualified proclamation of the party creed regarding the most momentous question that has confronted the country since the questions arising out of slavery were settled by arbitration of the sword."

Cincinnati Enquirer: "The work of the democratic convention is ended, and it leaves nothing to regret. The democratic party goes once more before the people with a declaration whose tone is proud and confident. It is a battle cry. It has nothing to excuse, nothing to palliate. The verdict rendered at the election of 1884 will be repeated this fall. The democrats have gained much in the interval, and have lost nothing. Returning to power for the first time in a quarter of a century, the party has most conspicuously shown its ability to govern and the thorough conservatism of its methods. They enter this new contest, therefore, with many millions of friends who were not with them in 1884 and enter it with a ticket chosen by acclaim. Cleveland and Thurman the next President and Vice-President of the United States."

An Exchange says: "A Kansas school ma'm has introduced a new feature in her school. When one of the girls misses a word the boy who spells it gets the permission to kiss her. As a result the boys are improving rapidly." It fails to state whether the girls are missing more words than usual.

Syrup of Figs
Is Nature's own true laxative. It is the most easily taken, and the most effective remedy known to cleanse the system when Bilious or Costive; to dispel Headaches, Colds, and Fevers; to Cure Habitual Constipation, Indigestion, Piles, etc. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company, San Francisco, Cal.

LETTER FROM GEORGE O. BARNES

FRANKLIN, KY., JUNE 8, 1888.

DEAR INTERIOR.—A brief lecture, "gentle" Walton (by the way what kin are you to old "Izaak," the patron saint of the fisher folk?), on your extravagance. Do you think, my dear boy, that I have nothing to do but write letters for the INTERIOR JOURNAL, that you make such a reckless use of my brains as to scatter them over 3½ columns at a time? I might have borne it on the first page, or inside, but to be pilloried on the 4th page, where you print "Tales of a Detective," and "Legends of Smugglers' Cave" et id genus; well, if I were not saturated with my own gospel, G. L. L. A. N. E., I would demur at that part of it. But the point I want to make is this, "Waste not want not." It is only a happy accident of a family character, that will give you a letter this week at all; which is more than you deserve after the prodigal "waste" of me in 6 mortal Barnes columns in two issues. The public and I will both "give out" at that rate. A plain case of "burning the candle at both ends."

In a word, a judicious division is called for, of what I can only write as I have opportunity, and feel like it; so that a "feast or a famine" policy will give place to regular meals, without danger of indigestion. Verba, sap. sat. Do you "hitch on," dear?

The family incident alluded to is one that has invaded more family circles than mine. Boarding with us at the Boisseau House is bright-faced, intelligent, talkative little lady from the Hoosier State, who is the very efficient agent of the "National Garment Cutter." You will have to advertise them gratis if you print this letter. For the attractive person, who represents that wonderful interest here, talked us all into the notion of trying it in no time. George is the artist of the family and we decided that she should go first. And when, after a few hours of study of the "machine" she produced an "under-body," or something else pertaining to the indescribable complications of feminine apparel, that fitted Marie "like paper on the wall," we exchanged faith for sight and grew rapturously enthusiastic. Remember, George didn't know a "gusset" from a "band," or the difference between a "hem" and a "tuck." Taken away from school and turning evangelist immediately, without the opportunity of either beginning or perfecting herself in the mysteries pertaining to thread and needle, she was as pitifully ignorant of even the "elements" of tailoring as any young lady of her inches in these United States. It will be more than a year before she can even begin to understand the meaning of "tailoring."

Franklin is a gem of a place. My friend Dr. Duncan tells me the death rate in Simpson county is lower by accurate comparison than in any other place in the U. S.

And it ought to be so, 1,200 above the sea level; in a latitude "betwixt and between" the frigid North and the fervid South; country everywhere rolling and well drained; and a mineral water as health-restoring as any, perhaps, in our State, so highly blessed with recuperative springs; it is no wonder, if here, death should be more successfully held at bay than in other places.

To crown all, board is excellent and cheap. The public eaters do not go for the "bottom dollar," nor "kill the goose that lays the golden egg," as the short-sighted New Orleans publicans did when their big exposition collapsed the second year. You can take folks in once, but rarely twice." "A burnt child dreads the fire." I think I have heard remarked once or twice.

These red clay roads are perfect now, and the drives in every direction picturesque and charming. In winter, of course, these same roads, far surpassing hard pikes when dry, are an almost impassable "loblolly."

For a real, restful family gathering place, where summer quiet brings back the lost roses to the cheek, and impairs the appetite to the dyspeptic, I know no place more inviting than Franklin. For dissipation, feverish excitement and the usual concomitants of "fashionable resorts," you need not come here.

We leave to-morrow with deep regret this delightful town, and leave behind many loving friends, as we bear away with us undying memories of their courtesy and kindness to the Troupe Evangelique.

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

the bud a plan she had been surreptitiously hatching in that artistic brain of hers to make some money out of it and put the "Troupe" beyond the possibility of a recurrence of bankrupt experience in the proud capital of Mississippi. But I interposed at that stage with all the weight of parent's authority and after awhile succeeded in convincing her that it would not do to graft even the "National garment cutter" on to our Evangel; and that there was a wide difference between Paul making tents for a living and making money at gospel minstrelsy. Finally she agreed to confine her attainments to the family and a few friends. So the case stands at present. It remains to be seen whether this will turn out a Frankenstein giant of trade, or one that can be managed properly. My young folks think there are "militias in it." From which you will rightly infer that we all think much of the "National garment cutter." Sallie goes to Gallatin to-morrow to try her fortune while we go northward to Bowling Green to continue our work.

This Franklin meeting has been like "old times" to us all. Crowded houses, close attention; many blessed; many anointed for bodily healing; and something like the old Kentucky enthusiasm we knew so well years ago. These people seem less afraid to believe God is good than any community we have struck for a long time. We will always count it a special mercy that our wandering footsteps were directed hither.

The mineral water, that sorely tried nostril and palate, when we first came, is now a delicious draught to us, refreshing and satisfying beyond any water we ever drank. I think our gospel has turned out the same to many who didn't fancy it at first. "No man having drunk old wine straightway desireth new; for he saith the old is better." But that, the dear LORD intimates, comes from a vitiated taste. Only keep drinking, and soon the old, headachy, fiery stuff goes out of favor, and the "wine that cheers the heart of God and man" will supersede. Then the instructed, educated taste will no more go back to the abandoned thing than I desire a return to the ferocious theology of my boyhood.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For President,

GROVER CLEVELAND,

Of New York.

For Vice-President,

ALLEN G. THURMAN,

Of Ohio.

For Judge of the Court of Appeals,

JUDGE W. S. PRYOR,

The incomparable ticket placed before the country by the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis—Grover Cleveland and Allan Granberry Thurman—is received everywhere with demonstrations of hearty approval, while the "platform is one," as Mr. Watterson expressed it, "that every democrat can stand upon without feeling away from home." The document entire is given in another column and it is a full and free declaration of democratic principles. There is no uncertain sound about the plank on tariff reduction. It is to be interpreted in the light of President Cleveland's message thereon and a bolder, braver expression on the subject could not be made than that document. There was a long fight in the committee-room on the question between Senator Gorman and his following and Henry Watterson, but the latter finally triumphed and his work and presence were unanimously endorsed and warmly applauded by the convention. His committee recommended an endorsement of the Mills bill and that too was adopted without dissent. It would have been impossible to have named a stronger ticket. Cleveland's record is enough to satisfy the country that he can be trusted under any and all emergencies, while Mr. Thurman is as Senator Edmunds, a distinguished republican expresses it, "the ablest and the grandest, the bravest, and the truest democrat in the Union." There is no combination that can beat that of Cleveland and Thurman, which is as sure of success as the November election day arrives. Three cheers for it and the glorious work of the great convention!

A SCOUNDRELY PREACHER (and a preacher can be the biggest scoundrel in the world when he is one), named Pendleton, who desecrates the city of Worcester with his foul presence, said in an interview after visiting Washington that he had been informed that Mrs. Cleveland's married life was unhappy, and that the President was abusive in his demeanor toward her and otherwise unkind. A lady friend in Boston sent Mrs. Cleveland a copy of the interview and she replied to her as follows: "Every statement is basely false. I pity a man of his calling who has been made a tool to give circulation to such wicked, heartless lies. I can wish the women of our country no greater blessing than that their homes and lives may be as happy and their husbands as kind, attentive, considerate and affectionate as mine."

It is so rare that great men show their appreciation of those who have assisted them to greatness that it is peculiarly gratifying to record the subjoined:

FRIEND WALTON:—Remembering with a thankful heart that you have stood by me through thick and thin, through evil as well as through good report, and recognizing that mainly through your untiring and faithful efforts I have been able to get beside the pinnacle of fame, I make bold to ask another favor of you. Will you not go to Chicago next week to assist as you only can, in obtaining for me the vice presidential prize from the republican convention? I shall need you, so do not fail yours gratefully,

BILLY O'B.

If the national convention had been held for the benefit of the afternoon papers it could not have served them better. The Louisville Times, as usual, with its own T. G. Watkins on the ground, swept the platter clean, leaving the morning papers nothing to do but to rehash the glorious story. Our thanks are due and we cordially extend them to the Times force generally and Walter P. Emerson, Esq., especially, for keeping us posted on transpiring events.

SENATOR VODDIES, of Indiana, says in an interview that Gray's friends will not falter in their support of Thurman, and that, in his opinion, the democrats will carry Indiana. Gov. Gray himself telegraphed congratulations to the Old Roman and pledged his warmest support.

DEMOCRATIC newspapers and democratic statesmen from Maine to California and from the Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico unite with one accord in saying that it is a glorious ticket and a clean-cut platform. Read the comments on them published on our first page.

An exchange says that in a few more days the candidates will have stripped for the presidential race. We have got $15 in our inside pocket which says that Belva Lockwood will show up best in that performance.

The Jackson Club serenaded Senator Thurman en route from the convention and he greeted them with a cheering speech, which showed how much life there is in him yet. Said he: "People may say I am too old to run for vice-president, but they do not understand the effect upon an old democrat of such kindness as I received at your hands and at the hands of the rest of the democracy of the United States. Why, I feel about ten years younger at the least calculation. I should not be surprised if I should make such a fool of myself between now and the second Tuesday, or the first Tuesday, or whatever Tuesday it is in October—November, I mean, that I should be prancing round making speeches like a young man just out of his teens." He continued in this happy strain and closed with this splendid eulogy of the president: "There scarcely ever happened in the history of this world a sublimer spectacle than the renomination of Grover Cleveland by the unanimous vote of the convention. (Great applause.) And now I say you did a wise thing in that, a patriotic thing in that. The people of the United States love a brave man, and Cleveland is a brave man; they love an honest man, and God knows he is an honest man; they love a man of good sound judgment, and I do not know any man of sounder judgment than his; they love a man who stands up for the people, who stands up for principle and does not fear to take the consequences, and such a man is Grover Cleveland. Gentleman, it will be an honor to every man of that St. Louis Convention as long as he lives that he was there to cast his vote for this worthy President of the United States."

The democratic ticket was nominated by acclamation and the proceedings of the convention were harmonious and altogether lovely. There will be no such unanimity at Chicago next week, where every little rooster will aspire to be a leader. No man on earth can predict whom the republicans will nominate and it is barely possible that any in heaven can.

THE noble Old Roman will feel perfectly at home when he takes his seat as presiding officer of the U. S. Senate. He has been there before, having held a seat in the body from 1869 to 1881.

JUDGE GRESHAM would be the strongest candidate the republicans could nominate, but for two reasons. He used to be a know-nothing and is still an atheist.

BRO. KELLER, of the Carlisle Mercury, will please accept our thanks for a neatly tuned compliment, which we appreciate as much as if it were deserved.

THURMAN was born in Virginia, married in Kentucky and lives in Ohio. The combination is a lovely one and cannot be beaten.

—T. Cole Gally, of Garrard, has engaged with Loper, Dater & Co., the Covington live stock dealers, and writes that 1,200 lambs sold that morning at 7 to 7½ cents.

—John Embry bought for Nelson Morris, of Chicago, R. D. Logan's Peter Gentry's and other cattle in the neighborhood, for last of July delivery, at 5 cents.

—A large crowd went to Mr. Van de Water's sale Saturday, but owing to the fact that he could get no higher bid for his land than $60 per acre he withdrew it and would not then offer his stock and other property that he had advertised for sale. His price for the land, we learn, is $75.

—W. T. Robinson sold to J. W. McKinney, of Stanford, a 2-year-old filly by Paladine, dam by Taylor's Bay Messenger, for $150. M. T. Thredkeld sold to Wm. Payne 1,500 bushels of his new crop of wheat at $1. W. L. Reed sold 2,000 bushels new wheat at 75 cents.—[Harridson's Democrat.]

—C. D. Hocker, of Nodaway county, Mo., writes us in renewing his subscription: "Crops in this county are looking well, especially small grain and grass. Corn is rather late but is growing nicely and looks well. With a good season from now on and everybody doing their duty, there is no reason why we should not have a good crop this Fall and elect Cleveland also. My respects to J. W. Alcock and other friends."

—Thirty-six head of fine trotting stock belonging to the estate of the late L. L. Dorse, the originator of the Gold Dust breed, sold Saturday at an average of $618. Cleveland, a bay stallion, sold for $2,250; Zillet, a chestnut colt, for $3,200; and several others at $1,000 each. Foresus Reid, of this county, bought Confidence, a bay colt by Zilcandi Gold Dust for $260. Mayor E. H. Burnside and others attended from here.

—Sparks from the great pyrotechnic display in honor of the convention ignited Kauffman's Park Flower Mills in St. Louis, destroying the entire buildings and machinery.

—A mob took a negro named James Foster from the jail at Henderson Sunday night and hung him. He had raped a little colored girl and a number of his executioners were colored men.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Our just and our unjust had a good shower on Saturday and a better one on Saturday night.

—Chas. League and Rosa Montgomery, both from about Parksville, obtained marriage license Friday.

—Base ball games are to be played here Thursday and Friday between the Louisville Amateurs and the Danville club.

—Basil Guest received a telegram from his father at St. Louis this morning informing him that he had sold Jack Cocks for $3,000 and that he had refused $1,000 for Heron.

—John Embry, of Jessamine county, bought on Saturday for Armour, the beef king of Chicago, from P. T. Gentry 150 fine shipping cattle, averaging 1,650 or 1,700 pounds, at 5 cents. From Geo. Dugan 30 head same weight at $4.85; from C. T. Armstrong 30 head weighing 1,500 pounds, at $4.75; from Charles McDowell 16 head, weight 1,600 pounds, at $4.85.

—Dr. R. M. Orear has returned from a fishing excursion in Casey. He at first reported that he "caught a few fish," on cross examination he admitted that he only caught two. Other witnesses being introduced, it gradually came out that he got one bite, with strong suspicion of a nibble. The Dr. seems to have discovered additional testimony and will move for a new trial.

—Danville friends of the bride have received the after cards of the marriage of Mr. Walter L. Thomas to Miss Laura B. Larimer, which took place June 5th. Mrs. Thomas is a daughter of the late Samuel Larimer, a highly respected citizen of Danville, whose family moved to Topeka, Kansas, soon after his death, about 18 months ago. The bride's numerous friends here tender her their congratulations.

—There was considerable fun on Main street this (Monday) morning, caused by an offer made by Mr. C. E. Fenner, of Kansas City, to two negro boys, Bob Carpenter and Monroe Baughman, that if they would catch a certain pig then walking by he would give the catcher a dollar. The boys tried faithfully for 15 or 20 minutes, but could not catch Cincinnati's favorite animal. Mr. Fenner gave them 25 cents apiece for the efforts they made to earn the dollar.

—Now that Cleveland and Thurman have been nominated and all good democrats are going to support them, would it not be well enough to let up on the "Old Roman" business? It has become nauseating already and never was complimentary of Tacitus, Suetonius and other historians say about the most prominent of old Romans be true. But all that aside, it is no better to be an old Roman than a modern American or Frenchman, all things being equal.

—Mr. E. S. Lee, formerly of this place, now cashier of the Covington National Bank, is in town. Mr. P. A. Marks has begun preparations for his annual celebration of the 4th of July. The Salt river tigers will be out in force and there will be a balloon ascension and other festivities too numerous to mention. Mrs. W. J. Lyle, whose serious illness has been noted, is reported much better this morning. Miss Julia Gentry entertained a large number of lady friends Friday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock. Mart Ferrin, of Russell, is in town.

—Citizens of Junction City complain, very justly, it seems, of the action of the Cincinnati Southern Railway Company in piling large quantities of heavy timber high up in front of all the buildings from the Gore House corner north to Ball's saloon. The company claims that as the ground is part of their right-of-way they can put what they please there. But in this they are hugely mistaken, as they have no right to do anything to obstruct travel or business, or which interferes with the rights of others. The town trustees should move the timber in short order if the company does not.

WAYNESBURG.

—The men in this neighborhood who intended voting for Cleveland have about changed their minds and are for Fisk, since hearing of the desperate conduct of one Bluford McMullin, of the O. K. neighborhood. While he was on his way from Embanks, where one Dr. Baker dishes out the devil's eye-water to the boys, and meeting with Mrs. Mary Reynolds, wife of Seth Reynolds, of this place, who was on horseback, and had a little daughter of William Padgett behind her, he ran up to her and caught her horse by the bridle and made some very ugly demonstrations, and with a drawn knife threatened to kill her

THE CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS have reduced their rates so that it will be almost as cheap to stay there as at home. See their figures in another column.

Light rains fell Saturday night and Sunday, but not near enough for the needs of vegetation. The mercury, which on Saturday was up to 90, had fallen to 60 yesterday morning.

THE MERRY BACHELORS count on the grand hop they have ever given to-night. A number of beautiful belles and handsome beaux from a distance are already here to take part.

BASE BALL.—An interesting game will be played between the colored nine here and the Danvilles Wednesday at 3 o'clock at their grounds near the Planing Mill. If you want to see a good game, go. Admission 15 cents.

THERE are those disposed to say that Thurner is not a good looking man. But we have outside of his picture indisputable evidence that he is. A gentleman who has seen him says he is the image of our A. M. Feland, Esq.

A MAD-DOG got after Billy Gooch's chickens and when he went to drive him off he attacked the old gentleman, who soon laid him out with a well directed pistol shot. We hear a great deal about mad-dogs in the knob section of the county.

THE HUSTONVILLIANS could not agree in regard to holding a fair this year, so they agreed to give us another chance. The Lincoln County Association will therefore hold its second annual fair and will endeavor to beat its good record of last year. It will begin August 2 and last three days.

We have received a long and amusing letter from Bright Ferrell telling of his experience in getting to Bell county and after reaching there, which we have had to defer on account of space. Bright is almost equal to Bill Nye as a writer and when we publish his letter we have no doubt he will receive many proposals from the leading newspapers.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION did not adjourn till after 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, yet the INTERIOR JOURNAL was out a little after 4 telling all about it, the glorious ticket and the admirable platform. We are always up with the news procession and will be in the van during this presidential election year of our Lord. Now is the time to subscribe.

THIS is going to be a gala week in Cincinnati. Over 100,000 Knights of Pythias will be there and the city will be decked in her finest array. The K. C. will sell round trip tickets from here on the 13, 14 and 15, good to return till the 16, at $3.80. The grand parade will occur on the 13 and on that day tickets will be sold at $3.05, good only for that day.

THE PULASKI FAIR COMPANY awarded the printing of its 3,000 catalogues to the INTERIOR JOURNAL Office over a number of bidders. This is not to be wondered at when our prices are always as low as good work can be done and its execution the best that first-class printers, new type and fine presses can make it. The Fair will be held September 14.

GEN. GREENLY, chief of the signal service, has written the observer here, owing to the fact that the appropriation is getting low, many volunteer stations which now receive weather reports will be discontinued after July 1, and asks what goods reasons can be presented for their continuance here. There are many good reasons and they have been laid before the proper official.

SEMI-WEEKLY INTERIOR JOURNAL

DECORATION DAY.

Cover their graves with beautiful flowers,
Every kind hand some gift should bring,
To scatter in sweet profusion here
Flowers of the last immortal Spring.

Oh, they were the noblest and best of all,
Who went bravely forth at their country's call,
Who fought the battle f'd side by side,
Till wounded and bleeding, they fell there and died.

It's little enough we can do to show
Our love and respect as the years come and go;
But this we can do while freedom's flag waves,
Strew beautiful flowers o'er our hero's graves.

Pause a moment here by this grave sad and lone,
See, the head-board is marked with the one word,
"Unknown,"

It must be a young form that rests 'neath this clay,
For the brightest of sunbeams the longest here stay.

I fancy I see a fair young face
Toward the bayonets turned to its manly grace;
A ball from the foe comes thundering o'er head,
And he falls 'mid the slain on the battle-field—dead.

BAKING POWDERS.

Official Tests by the Ohio State Food Commission.

Analyses of the Chief Brands in the Market Their Strength and Value Ascertained.

The Ohio State Dairy and Food Commission, under the direction of the Legislature of that State, has made public the result of its recent official examination of the baking powders of the market. As many of the brands analyzed are in use throughout the country, the report of the Commission will be found of general interest.

The startling fact is brought about by the report that of the 30 different brands of baking powder analyzed, 20 are made from alum, a substance declared by the highest medical authorities to be injurious to health when used in food.

The Commission classifies the baking powders into three general divisions according to their value:

1st. Cream of Tartar Baking Powders.
2d. Phosphate Baking Powders.
3d. Alum Baking Powders.

The Commission explains that the best baking powder is that which, the ingredients being healthful gives off the largest amount of leavening gas and leaves the smallest amount of the residuum in the bread. A small amount of carbonate of ammonia, which is considered healthful, is used in some of the cream of tartar powders to give them a higher strength. The Commission says that alum is undoubtedly a hurtful salt. The report ranks the powders and shows the amount in each of inert resultants, which in using it would appear as residuum in the bread as follows:

Name.	Per Cent. Inert, or Residuum.
CREAM OF TARTAR POWDERS.
Royal	7.34
Dr. Price's	5.60
Pearson's	14.39
Cleveland	10.15
Snow Drift	17.54
Upper Ten	0.22
De L' Alum	32.53
Sterling	12.63
PHOSPHATIC BAKING POWDERS.
Horsford's	30.49
Wheat	80.23
ALUM BAKING POWDERS.
Empire	34.39
Go. d.	30.34
Veteran	23.30
Cat. Favorite	33.00
Flower	35.17
Kenton	40.08
Patapsco	29.85
Jersey	30.57
Peerless	20.28
Silver Star	31.85
Crown	16.65
Pro. (Special)	3.92
Gas Spring	37.73
Wheeler's No. 15	30.94
Carleton	30.94
Gem	30.57
Patent	29.85
Zip's Gran. Cryst.	11.20
Forest City	24.01

The large amount of inert matter or residuum in both the phosphate and alum powders will be noted. This in the phosphate powders is largely of lime; in the alum powders it is chiefly alum. It will be gratifying to the public to observe that the powder in most general use, the Royal, is also the purest. In comparing the first two powders on the list, for instance—the Royal and Dr. Price's—the inert matter in Price's is seen to be about five in seven more than in the former, a difference of 71.37 per cent., the Royal being purer than Price's by a corresponding figure.

The carbonic or leavening gas produced by the powders indicates their strength; and their true value may be ascertained by considering the amount of this gas in connection with their inert matter or residuum as shown above. The higher the percentage of gas and the lower the percentage of residuum the better the baking powder. These percentages, as found in some of the most familiar powders, are given as follows:

Name.	Per Cent. of Leavening Gas.	Per Cent. of Residuum.
Royal	11.30	7.25
Stirling	10.50	12.60
Price's	10.50	13.25
De L' Alum	10	32.53
Gem, Alum	8.45	36.37
For. City, Alum	7.80	44.24
Silver Star, Alum	6.95	38.38
Kenton, Alum	6.20	38.17
Patapsco, Alum	6.	40.08
Empire, Alum	5.80	34.26
Cat. Favorite, Alum	5.80	34.22
One Spoon, Alum	5.75	35.03

With the foregoing explanation the study of these figures will readily give consumers a knowledge of the comparative value of the different brands. To illustrate with the percentages given the two powders before compared: The Royal containing 11.8 parts of leavening gas to 10.5 in Price's, its excess of strength is 1.3 in 10.5, or 12.4 per cent. Royal is therefore 12.4 per cent. stronger, as well as 71 per cent. purer than Price's, etc. The relative strength and purity of all the powders can be computed in like manner.

The Chinese now issue an illustrated paper in New York.

The Platform.
The Democratic party of the United States, in National Convention assembled, renews the pledge of the fidelity to Democratic faith, and reaffirms the platform adopted by its representatives in the convention of 1884, and endorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last annual message to Congress as the correct interpretation of that platform upon the question of tariff reduction, and also endorses the efforts of our Democratic representatives in Congress to secure a reduction of excessive taxation.

Chief among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an indissoluble union of free and indestructible states now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renown; devotion to a plan of government, regulated by a written constitution strictly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States or people the entire ungranted residue of power; the encouragement of a jealous popular vigilance directed to all who have been chosen or tried to come into and execute the laws, and are charged with the duty of preserving peace, insuring equality and establishing justice. The Democratic party welcome an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the executive power, which four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grover Cleveland President of the United States, and it challenges the most searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the principles which have been adopted and are now being most critical period of our financial affairs, resulting from over taxation, the anomalous condition of our currency and a public debt unmatured, it has, by the adoption of a disaster, but greatly promoted the prosperity of the people.

It has reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the Republican party touching the public domain, and has reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred millions of acres of valuable land to be sacredly held as homesteads and for the public domain.

It has reversed the interests of the tax power, and conforming strictly to the principles of justice and equity, it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to the solders and sailors of the Republic than was ever paid before during an equal period. By intelligent management and a judicious and economical expenditure of the public money it has set on foot the reconstruction of the American navy upon a system which foretells the recurrence of scandal and successive successful results. It has adopted and consistently pursued a wise foreign policy, preserving peace with all nations while scrupulously maintaining all the rights and interests of our own government and people at home and abroad.

The exclusion from our shores of Chinese laborers has been effectually secured under the provisions of a treaty the operation of which has been postponed by the action of a Republican majority in the Senate.

However, in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleveland, and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency, not only by rule and precept, but by the example of his own untiring and unselfish administration of public affairs.

In every branch and department of the Government under Democratic control, the rights and welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended; every public interest has been protected, and the equality of all our citizens before the law has been secured to race or color, has been steadfastly maintained.

Upon its record thus exhibited, and upon the pledge of a continuance to the people of the benefits of good government, the National Democracy invokes a renewal of popular trust by the re-election of a Chief Magistrate who has been faithful, able and prudent. They invoke, in addition to that trust, the transfer to the Democracy of the entire legislative power.

The Republican party, controlling the Senate and resisting in both houses of Congress a reformation of unjust and unequal tax laws which have been adopted and maintained for years and are now undermining the abundance of a long peace, deny to the people equality before the law and the fairness and the justice which are their right. Thus the cry of American labor for a better share of the rewards of industry is stifled with false pretenses, enterprise is fettered and bound down to home markets, capital is disturbed with doubt and unequal, unjust laws can neither be properly amended nor repealed.

The Democratic party will continue, with all the power confided to it, to struggle to reform these laws in accordance with the pledges of its last platform indorsed at the ballot-box by the suffrages of the people.

All these industrious freemen of our land, an immense majority, including every tiller of the soil, gain no advantage from excessive tax laws; but the price of nearly every thing they buy is increased by the favoritism of an unequal system of tax legislation. All unnecessary taxation is unjust legislation. It is a violation to the creed of Democracy that by such taxation the cost of the necessities of life should be unjustly increased to all our people. Judged by Democratic principles, the interests of the people are betrayed when by unnecessary taxation trusts and conditions are permitted and fostered which will unduly enrich the few that combine to rob our citizens by depriving them of the benefit of natural competition. Every Democratic rule of governmental action is violated when, through unnecessary taxation a vast sum, far beyond the needs of the government, is administered, taken from the people and the channels of trade and accumulated as a demoralizing surplus in the national treasury. The money now lying idle in the federal treasury resulting from superfluous taxation amounts to $125,000,000, and the surplus collected is reaching the sum of more than $60,000,000 annually. Debased by this immense temptation, the treasury of the Republican party is to meet and exceed it by extravagance and waste. The Democratic remedy is to enforce equality in public expenditures, and to abolish unnecessary taxation. Our established domestic industries and enterprises should not and need not be endangered by a reduction and correction of the burdens of taxation. On the contrary, a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor, must permit and encourage every branch of such industry and enterprise by giving them a reasonable and equal market, steady and constant operation in the interest of American labor, which should in no event be neglected, the revision of our tax laws contemplated by the Democratic party, and to promote the advantage of such labor, by cheapening the cost of the necessities of life in the home of every workman and at the same time securing to him steady and remunerative employment.

Concerning every phase of our national life, and upon every question involved in the problem of good government, the Democratic party sides with the people and adheres to the intelligent suffrages of the American people.

Mr. Scott of Pennsylvania, under instructions from the Committee on Resolutions, offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That this convention hereby endorses and recommends the early passage of the bill for the reduction of the revenue now pending in the House of Representatives.

The resolution was adopted amid loud ap-
